GOVERNMENT WILL ESTABLISH GRADES

U. S. Department of Agriculture to Standardize All Tobacco Grades

In order to assist in placing the marketing of tobacco upon a more business basis, the United States department of agriculture is about to begin investigations which will lead to the establishing of tobacco grades applicable throughout the entire industry. Though tobacco ranks fourth among the crops of the United States, it returns more than $1,000,000,000 a year in agricultural wealth to the nation and more than $300,000,000 in annual revenue to the government, it is marketed in a manner which producers of less important crops would regard as a short cut to financial ruin.

For this condition the specialists of the bureau of markets, department of agriculture, blame primarily the auction system of sales in certain sections and the private contract system in other localities. Under the former method loose piles of tobacco to be sold are placed on the floor of a warehouse and examined by the prospective buyers. The tobacco is not graded, nor does the owner have much opportunity to describe the merits of his product. The auctioneer then offers the tobacco for sale and the buyers are practically in a position to obtain the tobacco for any price they choose to pay.

In the latter case the tobacco is sold privately by growers who usually have an indefinite idea of market prices, to buyers who are fully informed. The sales are frequently made on the farm and confirmed by contracts that are more binding on the seller than on the buyer. The sale often is made before the tobacco is harvested. At the time of the transaction the tobacco may be so far from being in a marketable condition that even the buyer is unable to determine its value in which case the farmer usually gets what the buyer estimates to be a safe price or chooses to offer.

In a bulletin published by the Massachusetts experiment station, it is stated that "under the contract method of sale, the farmer has all to lose, with no corresponding gain; the buyer, little or nothing." The same statement would apply equally as well to the "auction system," department specialists say.

Because of lack of grades, the tobacco producer is unable to determine if he is receiving a reasonable price for his product. There is no basis for comparison between the prices paid in one community and those paid elsewhere. Quotations of one market usually mean little in other markets, for they are not based upon organized standards of quality.

In October the bureau of markets, United States department of agriculture, held hearings in a number of cities for the purpose of discussing with tobacco growers, merchants, dealers, bankers, warehousemen and others interested in the industry, tentative regulations for warehousing tobacco under the provisions of the United States warehouse act. These hearings were attended by members of the trade who were representatives of the tobacco industry generally and considerable interest was shown in the bureau's work. At first there was an attitude of skepticism regarding the benefits to be derived from the warehousing of tobacco under the provisions of the warehouse act.

visions of the warehouse act. Doubt was expressed that the warehouse would be able to devise satisfactory tobacco standards, but in every instance, before the end of the hearing, the bureau's intention to take immediate action in carrying out its plans to place the marketing of tobacco upon a sound basis, was approved.

Under the provisions of the United States warehouse act, the secretary of agriculture is authorized to license warehouses for the storage of cotton, grain, flax, wool and tobacco. The chief purpose of the act, with respect to tobacco, is to establish a system of warehouses in which tobacco may be safely stored and through which the industry can more easily be financed and tobacco more advantageously marketed. To accomplish this purpose, the act is designed to provide a form of warehouse receipts which will be readily acceptable and widely negotiable as security for loans. Any warehouse that adequately protects the tobacco stored therein may be licensed. The regulations under the act provide for inspection of the premises at irregular intervals, examinations of the commodities stored and observance by the warehouseman of standards of business practice.

Since the passage of the act, more than 300 applications for warehouse licenses have been received by the bureau of markets, the majority of them during the last year. Producers and warehousemen now appear to appreciate the benefits to be derived from the warehouse act. The bureau's regulations for the warehousing of tobacco are in the hands of the printers, and will be ready for general distribution in the near future. How soon tobacco grades will be recommended will depend upon the ability of the bureau to carry on the work with the limited funds at its command. The bureau has received many assurances of co-operation by the tobacco industry.

On Friday Jan. 28th there was a teachers' meeting at Dillwyn that was unusually well attended and there were speakers galore. Speakers who could speak, speakers who thought they could and speakers who really entertained those who listened. State Sup. Hart and Miss Cole of the Red Cross belong in the first category. I did not hear all of the speeches. There was a great feast of good things to eat.

The candidates for the Legislature were on hand mixing with the dear people and they will soon become adepts at handshaking—John B. Boatwright and Dr. P. E. Tucker are the candidates.

There were warehouse men asking for our patronage, on old m-good tobacco was selling for about $20 on the Dillwyn market. There was a bag glut on the Farmville market for several days and I am told that prices declined as much as $5 in the hundred pounds. Mr. James L. Baird only got $14 for his best, Mr. Swill Morgan $14.4 is an average price. A few wrappers sold on the Farmville market for more than $50 per hundred. Mrs. W. J. Hubbard was quite unwell the past week as was also Miss Mary G. Glover. Raw sugar was quoted on the New York market the past week at 4 cents, which is said to be the lowest price quoted for the last two years.

Tuesday March 15, is the day for the opening of the spring term of circuit court here. The 2nd day in March is the 8th but our court opens on Tuesday after the 2nd Monday, which is the 15th.

On Feb. 13th there is to be a meeting here of the Red Cross forces of this county. A private letter received here says the snow of last week was the deepest had in North Carolina for two years and the papers say the snow storm reached as far south as Atlanta Georgia. The scientific teachers of farming have done a lot of talking to the farmers, but very little has been done on the farm so far, in a practical way. Mr. Gordon Egan and Mr. Rogers have been traveling together over the county demonstrating. I haven't seen a plant patch burned in the county, but they will be burned while this open spell lasts. I am told that game will be some cheaper and I hear some men saying they are not going to buy any this year at all.

Local farmers are asking $150 a bushel for winter seed oats and with fertilizers what they were last fall it would hardly pay to sow oats.

Good Roads in Virginia

Every Virginian is at heart a good roads advocate. He may differ with his neighbor over ways and means to secure them, but if he can be convinced that they are procurable without undue burden his answer will be "Go ahead." It is the purpose of the Virginia Good Roads Association to spread such convincing arguments for better highways into every nook and corner of the State, and to that end it is sending out its trucks, its movies and its literature. To make this campaign of education as complete as possible, Every Virginian who does not now belong should feel it incumbent upon him to demonstrate his interest by becoming a member. The drive for membership has been extensive, and all one needs is a dollar and a desire to see Virginia at its best out of the mud. Virginia, with its constitutional restrictions removed by the votes of the people, is at the beginning of a great road-building era, which in the next ten years should metamorphose the State whose name is mathematics to tourists into one that will be the Mecca for travelers from all over America drawn by its splendid highways leading to its thousand points of historic interest. Such a metamorphosis can be brought about if the people will it so.

There has been fear on the part of some that under the changed administration and the cry for national economy the Federal road aid might be discontinued, to the serious disruption of Virginia's road-building program. Such a contingency is not probable, although it is likely to change will be made in the method of expending the Federal funds. Such funds, it is generally conceded, should be confined to the great cross country roads, North and South, East and West, constituting Federal highways connecting every State, and with which the State network of highways would be joined. It would mean an end to haphazard, piecemeal road building, and the construction of a durable system of hard-surfaced highways for the entire country. Such a determination on the part of the Federal government would have the hearty sanction of Virginia.

Was Very Weak
"After the birth of my baby I had a back-set," writes Mrs. Mattie Crosswhite, of Glade Spring, Va. "I was very ill; I thought I was going to die. I was so weak I couldn't raise my head to get a drink of water. I took medicine, yet I didn't get any better. I was convulsed and very weak, getting worse and worse. I sent for Cardui."

TAKE CARDUI

The Woman's Tonic

"I found after one bottle of Cardui I was improving," adds Mrs. Crosswhite. "Six bottles of Cardui and... I was cured, yes, I can say they were a God-send to me. I believe I would have died, had it not been for Cardui." Cardui has been found beneficial in many thousands of other cases of womanly troubles. If you feel the need of a good, strengthening tonic, why not try Cardui? It may be just what you need.

Dr. D. N. Twyman who has been sick for a week is out and has gone on a fishing trip to Florida.

Florida. Mrs. C. W. and Mr. Hancock return to Florida this week to finish their vacation, which was broken by the illness of Mrs. C. Hancock who is now up.

Our electric lights have been out for several nights, but Manager Eberman promises to have the necessary repairs in place promptly. He expects to change his power to steam in a short while when he will be able to furnish better lights.

We hear lots of talk in regard to the boys and girls pig clubs, but as yet I have not noticed where any of them had killed a porker weighing over 500 pounds and it would vote that our county agent, Mr. F. Byrnes, of Hollywood, as an Honorary member of the Hollywood club, since he has the distinction of having killed the largest hog in this county this year, weighing 613 pounds.

Mr. J. W. Davis has just returned from a visit to Richmond.

A large number of our farmers went to Appomattox Saturday to join the Tobacco Growers Association, but they were one week too early, now boys go again on this coming Saturday and have this glorious policed, but to my notion open up.

On last Saturday at the Appomattox Hotel, Miss Alice Eberman Chatham became the wife of Mr. Othas. W. Harding. The ceremony was performed in the presence of a number of friends of the contracting party. The bride has been making her home here some time and the groom is a splendid young man and has been employed at the Appomattox garage for some time. We extend best wishes.

Mr. Russell Abbott, of V. P. I., has been home on a visit.

For the present local trains will be retained.

W. L. Brown has returned from a business trip to Roanoke.

Mr. H. C. Babcock went to Richmond this week to consult a physician.

Whooping cough is abroad in this land and little Virginia noses is whooping.

Our boys and girls are happy—the mid-winter examinations are over.

Mrs. Thos. Jones, of New London Academy, spent the week end here.

Miss Irene Smith has been visiting relatives and friends in Burkeville and Okeoke.

Miss Evie Lena Caldwell was the week-end guest of Miss Loisie Alvis, near Spout Spring.

Get ready for building that new home at Appomattox boys, now, no better time than now.

Miss Louise Carville, of Charlotte county, was the week end guest of Misses Lougenia and Gladys Pateston.

Lost—lost two $10 notes, two $5 notes and three $1 notes, amounting to $38 in cash.

J. ALEX BINGHAM

The young people of the village enjoyed a dance at the town hall Friday evening. On the 14th February the big dance of the season.

Miss Mildred Bae, of Lynchburg, has been a visitor at the hotel for a week. She came to attend the Harding—Chatham marriage.

Mr. W. F. Woodfolk has been appointed deputy treasurer and will collect taxes in Stonewall district. Mr. D. A. Conner will collect in Clover Hill and Southside.

At a meeting of the tobacco growers here last week, Mr. Howard Marshall was elected president. He is one of our best farmers and is enthusiastic in the work.

Hixburg

Very few farmers around here have burned any plant beds and I hear quite a number say that they do not expect to use any guano this season at all as they figure eight barrels of corn to pay for one ton fertilizer and that the difference without it will not be equal to the cost and that they will have to do extra work to pay the guano company and that it will be more business to leave it off. Others say they are going to use it very light. True enough they had better figure before they buy at present prices.

The Brisentine boys, prosperous farmers near Prospect, lost a fine eight-room barn of tobacco last week. I also hear that Mr. Christie Bagby near Hollywood had a like 1 as one day last week, but managed to save most of the tobacco from the burning building.

Mr. Editor now that Senator King, of Utah, has declared that all lovers of Bulshewiki should move to Russia, should we not also include in his edict those who are diverting our public school books from true American type to cater to the whims of the Papal press to move to Rome.

The Experiment station of Blacksburg is having a busy week treating tobacco seed and why, if we are not going to plant any this year, it looks as if someone is going to try to be hunked again, but we farmers are by tobacco size we are by politics. We have furnished the other fellow the gun and ammunition to hold us if we move we are shot at and we find ourselves entirely helpless.
